On the 3rd or 4th of February (depending on which country you live in), the annual Flying stars will change in every building around the world which can result in both auspicious or inauspicious influences in each of the nine sectors of your home or workplace. I have listed the different compass sectors and how to enhance or weaken each area accordingly.

The best months for the north during 2022 are March, May, August, September, October and December.
